

On first glance this looks a bit haphazard to me but this is how the program runs. First the main method gets the user inputs which are fed to Math. Math resolves the inputs and provides a solution back to the Main method. Then the main method feeds that info to NumbersToWords and Operator to Words which then goes back to the main method to be displayed to the user.